NOTES FOR PLANTING GLADS

Soil and Fertilizer

Any good garden soil is ideal. Glads do well on most any soil if they are planted in the open garden where there is plenty of sunshine and a reasonable amount of moisture. Soil should be well drained. If your soil is not strong, you may apply manure and turn under in the fall, or you may work well rotted manure into the soil in the spring. Two or three applications of commercial fertilizer may be made on the surface along the rows during the growing season and before the plants bloom. Any fertilizer should be kept from direct contact with the bulb or foliage. If you wish to grow immense spikes you must fertilize heavily but your plants must also have at least an inch of water every three or four days. Heavy fertilizing with insufficient water will make your spikes a disappointment.

Treating Bulbs

We treat all of our stock before planting with Corrosive Sublimate. One ounce to ten gallons of water. Soak bulbs or bulblets over night in wood container.

Planting

Work soil to a depth of eight inches, or ten inches will be better. For large bulbs they should be covered with not less than four inches of soil and many cover them with six inches. The deeper planting helps keep them upright when blooming. Smaller bulbs should be planted more shallow but not less than two inches. You may regulate your distance apart in the row by the space you have. Plant rows anywhere from twelve inches to two feet apart in garden, depending on space. Plant in rows from two to six inches apart, depending on space and number of bulbs. They do well planted close together, making fine spikes but require more water. Also you should have richer soil or more fertilizer to get large spikes if planted close. You may, of course, plant in beds, spacing the bulbs about six inches each way.
